FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second-class mailable matter.

FRANKFORT, NOV. 14, 1891.

Accidentally Shot.

The friends of Miss Adah Poindexter, a young lady who attended Jessamine Female Institute last year, and visited this city several times last winter and spring, will regret to learn that she was accidentally shot in the left arm, at her home in Carrollton, Mississippi, several weeks ago, the ball entering the forearm on the inside and passing out at the elbow, inflicting a painful flesh wound. She went home to spend the vacation, with the intention of returning to school in the fall, but was detained by the illness of a younger sister until after the first of October and was making preparation to return to Kentucky when the unfortunate accident happened. Her father had left a 32-calibre double-acting revolver lying upon the mantle in her room, and the house girl being afraid to handle fire-arms, Miss Poindexter undertook to dust off the mantle for her, and in so doing moved the weapon when it exploded with the above result. Miss Poindexter is a beautiful and amiable young lady and made a host of friends during her visits here, who sympathize with her in her misfortune.

$10,000 Bond.

The examining trial of Ambrose Polsgrove, who shot and killed Jerry Williamson and wounded W. B. Larkin, Alex. Snellen and Joe Williams upon Main street in this city Monday a week ago, was begun before County Judge Ben. G. Williams Monday morning and was concluded Wednesday. A large number of witnesses were examined, and after hearing the argument of the attorneys the Court admitted Polsgrove to bail in the sum of ten thousand dollars, which he gave, with Messrs. R. C. Church, John W. Gaines and O. B. Polsgrove and J. P. Slattery as bondsmen.

Four other warrants were sworn out against Polsgrove by County Attorney Johnson, three charging him with malicious shooting and wounding and the fourth for carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

The Drouth Ended.

After many weeks of dry weather, it commenced raining Monday night and kept it up most all of Tuesday, until the earth was well saturated. It was badly needed by the farmers to save their wheat, and many persons in the city who depended upon their cisterns for water had pumped them dry and were carrying water from springs and wells. Many farmers were entirely out of stock water and had to drive their stock some distance to the larger streams. It was indeed a "blessed rain."

Home to Stay.

Mr. Robert B. Franklin, ex-editor of the Three Forks Enterprise, prosecuting attorney of Beattyville City Court and Manager of the Three Forks Investment Company, has resigned all of those positions and decided to locate with his family in this city and make this his home for all time. Bob is a lawyer of ability, as the positions he has filled will testify.

New Midland Station.

The Kentucky Midland Railway has leased and also obtained a purchase option upon the Macklin property at the east end of Broadway, for the purpose of improving their depot facilities. A trestle will be built across the old coal yard over which a side track will be laid into the rear of the lot, and the old frame residence adjoining the office of Messrs. E. H. Taylor, Jr. & Sons, so long occupied by the late Mrs. Conery, will be converted into a passenger depot. An arc electric light will be placed in front of the station, and in a short time passengers coming in over the Midland at night can alight upon a good wide platform, well lighted, and from thence can come down town upon a good sidewalk, instead of getting off in the dark and wandering around in the mud as they now have to do.

Jail Delivery.

Monday evening about 6 o'clock, the four Kendall boys, confined in the jail at Georgetown upon the charge of killing A. J. Montgomery and John Jarvis, in September last, made their escape and are still at large. Last March a man by the name of True, confined in the same jail upon a charge of murder, made his escape by sawing two of the bars at a rear window in two and forcing them apart. New bars were never put in but the old ones were riveted together again, and with the assistance of an old pocket knife and a nail the rivets were forced out by one of the Kendalls and the bars pushed out of position far enough to permit the passage of a man's body. M. H. Kendall, the father of the boys, who was confined in the jail, was too sick to accompany his sons in their flight.
